

The "no call list" should not be tampered with, so just leave it alone. It seems that those who want to tamper with and take away the peace of mind it gives those who get all those annoying calls must have never been bothered by them. Please don't fix if not broken. Leave it as it was meant to be and give peace of mind again. Is there no money in it to have it or what is the real reason for wanting to change it? Anyway, I don't want it taken away from my peace of mind nor do so many others who have been annoyed and annoyed so often and the "no call list" is just the thing to keep where it is. Please don't change it. Thanks.
